November 27, 1997

Dear Students, Parents, Alumni and Friends:

Since becoming headmaster in June, 1993, The English High School has earned the right to go to the Superbowl three times - in 1993, in 1996, and again in 1997. However, as exciting as those games have been, they do not begin to match the exhilaration of our annual Thanksgiving Day game against Latin School.

There is a history and a tradition about this game that makes it the game of the season. And though for many years, the men of English have tasted victory but rarely on this day, this game is the most exciting game of our season; it is the one where the players' emotions are highest and their hopes most fervent. No matter what the outcome is, we enjoy the day and are proud to be a part of this "gridiron classic."

As of this writing, The English High School is undefeated. Perhaps this will be the year. Will it have been worth the wait? Yes, as Robert Browning wrote, because "a minute's success pays the failure of years." If this is not the year, we can wait.

I congratulate both teams for the hard work this season, and I wish them both good fortune today. In truth, I wish a little extra good fortune for the men from English.

- Gerald L. Sullivan

GOOD LUCK ENGLISH!

Headmaster's Statement

Once again two institutions with fine academic and athletic programs meet to renew a tradition which is now over 100 years old. Participation in the Boston Latin/English Game is an experience that is never forgotten by those fortunate enough to have worn the purple and white and the blue and blue. This year's contest, hopefully, will be as exciting as any have been in the past.

We, at the Latin School, congratulate the English High School for their selection for the Super Bowl. We wish them well in that endeavor.

Although this has been a very difficult year for the purple and white, I am particularly proud of the commitment, determination and dedication of the Latin School coaches, staff and athletes. They are truly a worthy group. I am extremely proud of the way our school athletes have performed during this difficult season.

Happy Thanksgiving to all!
